Fraternity Rush Program Begins; 275 Frosh, Upperclassmen Signed

Approximately 275 freshmen and upperclassmen registered for the formal fraternity rush period which began last night and will run until Feb. 28.

Tonight and Friday night, the rushees will visit a maximum of five houses for 30 minutes each. With the conclusion of Friday's activities each rushee will have visited every house. He will then select a minimum of four and a maximum of six houses to revisit Monday, Feb. 23. For Wednesday, Feb. 25, this choice must be narrowed to two and four, respectively. The rushee is directed to select two houses to revisit on the final night of activities, Saturday, Feb. 27.

If, in any case, the rushee does not receive the minimum number of invitations from the fraternities, he will sign up for as many return visits to the houses as he has received.

Bids will be available between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon, Saturday, Feb. 28. Announcement of the place where bids may be picked up will be made in a later issue of the NEWS.

All other regulations and procedures regarding rush week will remain similar to those followed last semester, according to Bob Greenberg, chairman of the IFC Rush Committee.

3 Groups Gain Pledges Early

For reasons deemed valid by the Interfraternity Council, Sigma Nu, Zeta Beta Tau, and Phi Kappa Psi were granted special permission to pledge a quota of freshmen and upperclassmen Saturday, prior to the start of the official fraternity rush period.

In addition, all three will participate in the formal period which began yesterday and will run until Saturday, Feb. 28.

Men pledged to the respective fraternities were:

Sigma Nu—Kenneth Walker, James Hart, Frank Shanower, Sam Ballo, David Long, David Braunlich, James Wiemann, William Petche, Thomas Press, Roger Seiwert, and Charles Pratt.

Zeta Beta Tau—Roger Minkoff, Ross Fienberg, Norman Grossman, Peter Herold, Robert Guerin, Melvin Cohen, Murray Ferderber, Richard Breitbart, Donald Pollock, Erwin Lefkowitz, Michael Fink, Melvin Golland, and Alan Gans.

Phi Kappa Psi—Richard Frey, Michael Leymaster, and Dallas Horvath.

New Prof Hired For Philosophy

Sherman M. Stanage, assistant professor of philosophy and director of religious life at Baker University in Kansas, has joined the University staff as an assistant professor of philosophy.

During this semester, Professor Stanage is teaching introduction to philosophy and philosophy of religion. His office is in Ivy Hall, where he is available for student conferences.

He received the bachelor of arts degree from the University of New Mexico, the master of theology at The Iliff School of Theology, and will receive the doctor of philosophy degree at the June convocation of the University of Colorado.

Professor Stanage has served as director of youth work at the Englewood Methodist Church in Colorado and director of the Wesley Foundation at the University of Colorado. He is married and has three daughters.

Changes For NEWS Staff Announced

Five students have been appointed to positions on the staff of the B-G NEWS. Larry Coffman was promoted from assistant issue editor to issue editor; Gail Peery, from assistant society editor to assistant issue editor; Keith Sanders, assistant sports editor; and Roberta McKee and Sue Scott, assistant society editors.

Nation Is Participating In Brotherhood Week

Nationwide observance of brotherhood week, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, is being held this week. Pres. Dwight D. Eisenhower is honorary chairman of the observance.

The 1959 theme is "Brotherhood for Peace and Freedom—Believe It!—Live It!—Support It!"

Special events in communities throughout the United States are marking Brotherhood Week. Programs extend the work of the National Conference, which stimulates year-round programs in schools and colleges, churches and synagogues, labor-management and community organizations, and in newspapers, magazines, motion pictures, radio and television.

The purposes of Brotherhood Week, according to Dr. Lewis Webster Jones, president of the National Conference, are to give people an opportunity to re-dedicate themselves as individuals to the ideals of respect for people and human rights.

"We try to dramatize the practical things that people can do to promote understanding and realization of those ideals. Brotherhood Week is essentially a campaign against the prejudices and bigotries that disfigure and distort religious, business, social, and political relations."

Brotherhood Week's big promotion, according to Dr. Jones, is to urge people to do more than give the principles of brotherhood mere lip service.

"By getting to know the other fellow, the one who has a different creed, race or national origin than yours, by understanding his viewpoint, his ambitions and goals, you will find old prejudices disappear. You'll find that we are all one family made strong and great by the very differences that so many times divide us as individuals and groups. You'll learn to accept or reject a person strictly on his merits as a human being and not because he happens to be different from you."

Cobus Will Discuss Service Of Insurance

"Service of Insurance to University Students" will be the topic of discussion at the Cobus Hour at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Alumni Room of the Union.

Prof. Wilbur Abell of the business administration department will be the discussion leader.

University Plans Reception, Meal For Orchestra

A banquet and reception, to be given Thursday, are being planned in honor of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra as it is on campus for a concert at 8:30 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom, according to Delight Thompson, president of the Union Activities Organization.

The banquet will be held in the Dogwood Suite of the University Union at 6 p.m. Honored guests will include members of the Orchestra, junior and senior music majors, and members of the music department faculty. The banquet will be given by Pres. and Mrs. Ralph W. McDonald.

The reception, to be held in the Alumni Room of the Union immediately following the concert, will include the artist series committee, representatives of the faculty, the Union host and hostess committee, the University Symphony Orchestra, and invited townspeople, in addition to members of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra. The hospitality and reception committee of the Union Activities Organization and President and Mrs. McDonald will sponsor the reception.

Student ticket sales will end at noon today. They are available for 10 cents and presentation of a student identification card at the ticket window on the second floor of the Administration Bldg. Reserved seats are $2.75, general, and $3.75, balcony.

Tons Of Sand Put On Campus

At this point in the school year, the weather has been anything but satisfactory for the University student. However, it has been made to order for the local sand and gravel companies.

Last Monday, a total of six tons of brown sand was spread over the campus walks and roads. This was the one-day "spreading record" and brought the year's total tonnage of sand used to 36.

This figure would be even greater if it were not for the fact that several of the newer walkways are heated to prevent icing. This is true of the walks in front of the University Union. Also, the Administration Bldg. steps have underlying heat pipes to prevent ice formation.

It may appear that the lengths of cement running between the rear of the Administration Bldg. and the Maintenance Bldg. are heated also. Indirectly this is true as the steam pipes for the Men's Gymnasium run beneath, although the original plans were not drawn up with this dual purpose in mind.

Dorsey Band Set For Military Ball

The Jimmy Dorsey Orchestra, conducted by Lee Castle, will furnish the music for the annual ROTC Military Ball, according to Robert Rask, publicity chairman of the event. It will be held in the Grand Ballroom of the University Union, Friday, March 6, and the theme will be "Dancing on the Moon."

University Host For Convention During Easter

The local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta will be host for the twenty-first biennial convention of that national forensics honorary on the University campus during Easter vacation.

Dr. Raymond Yeager, province governor of PKD and forensics coach, announced that more than 800 students and faculty members from all over the United States will attend the convention March 22 through March 27. They will be housed in Rodgers Quadrangle and Alice Prout Hall.

This will be the second time PKD has held its national convention on this campus. They last met here in 1947.

Dr. Waldo W. Braden, chairman of speech at Louisiana State University, will be the principal speaker, revealed Dr. Yeager.

Another highlight of the convention will be the presentation of an award to Dr. Dwayne Orton, editor of "Think" magazine, for distinguished service in PKD.

Fourth Polio Shots Now At Hospital

A fourth polio inoculation is now available to all students, according to Dr. John H. Marsh, director of the University Health Service.

Dr. Marsh stated that the fourth shot is necessary because the first batch of Salk vaccine was weaker than intended and full immunity is not guaranteed. The fourth shot is believed to give complete protection, and may be taken seven months after the third.

The hospital hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturdays, the hospital is open from 8:30 a.m. to noon. The vaccine will cost 75 cents. Dr. Marsh feels this shot is very important and urges all students to take it.

There is no age limit, but students under 21 who do not have permission slips on file at the health service must have written permission from their parents in order to receive the shots.

This year's formal, as in past years, will feature the crowning of the queen of the two ROTC branches on campus. The Air Force division is in charge of the dance this year, and it will be closed to all persons except AFROTC and Army ROTC members and honored guests.

General chairmen for the event are Ron Harmon for the AFROTC,

CASTLE

Mary Larsen, managing editor of the '59 KEY, announced today that Governor and Mrs. Michael V. DiSalle will be the judges in the annual KEY queen and king contest.

Pictures of the 10 contestants have already been mailed to the judges, but there will be no formal announcement of the winners until the KEY is issued in May.

Some of the judges in past years have been Pat Boone, Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows, and the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

Student Body Positions Up For Nominations

Nominations for the positions of Student Body Officers and the nine elected posts on the Student Council for 1959-60 must be submitted to the Student Body Officer, 219 Administration Bldg., by Friday.

Prepared forms are available to all students wishing to make nominations, says Carolyn Krukemeyer, student body secretary, in the same office. They are also available from counselors in the residence halls or from the presidents of the Greek groups.

Suspended Classroom Puzzling, But Practical

By DAVE RIGGS and LYNETTE PATTERSON

Looking at the new Home Economics Bldg, you probably wouldn't notice anything very unusual about it. It looks much like the several beautiful, modern buildings under construction or already constructed on the campus. But if you view the building from the south side, there is something about it that may strike you as unusual and confusing. You would notice what appears to be a passageway suspended 30 feet in the air between the top floors of Founders Quadrangle and the Home Economics Bldg.

But to discover that this is not a passageway and that there is no entrance from Founders Quadrangle through this room suspended between the two buildings is even more confusing. What purpose does the structure serve? Why was it hung between the two buildings as it was? Wasn't it more expensive to build this room suspended from the walls of the buildings than it would have been to place the structure on the ground?

The answers to some of these puzzling questions were made clear in a recent discussion with Pres. Ralph W. McDonald. The room is needed to provide necessary classroom space in the clothing and textiles area on the top floor of the Home Economics Bldg. Complete modern facilities in this area and others, such as dietetics and food preparation, will provide the opportunity for the best, up-to-date training of home economics teachers, dietitians and other interested students.

It was necessary to suspend the room between the two buildings to provide a second entrance to the inner court of Founders for emergency purposes. The large entrance would also prove useful if a large moving operation involving furniture vans was necessary.

The surprising fact about the suspended classroom is that it cost less per square foot than the rest of the building. This is because the supports for the room were already there—the north wall of Founders and the south wall of the Home Economics Bldg.

The cost of the suspended room, which contains about six per cent of the usable working space in the entire building, was $18,500. The entire building cost $334,500, which means that this classroom cost about five per cent of the total expenditure. This figures out to be a very intelligent investment on the part of the University and the architects.

The Home Economics Building's "Classroom In The Air".

Editorially Speaking

Am I My Brother's Keeper?

In the interests of Brotherhood Week, which began Sunday and extends through next Sunday, today's editorial space of the NEWS is devoted to an editorial written by Tom Horner, of the Akron Beacon Journal.

We believe that it is a well-written, concise piece of journalism expressing the ideas and opinions that must be regarded as being absolutely right by all persons who try to foster better understanding between peoples of different races, creeds, or national origins.

But readers will have to decide for themselves whether its message means the same thing to them. No one can be talked out of prejudices or biased opinions, it is true, but if it were possible, we would offer Horner's work as a perfect remedy for such afflictions.

This is Brotherhood Week.

This is the time each year when we take a searching look at ourselves to see how we measure up to the Commandment of Judaea and Christian faiths, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself." How many of us can truthfully say that we are doing all that the Commandment requires of us?

We shall not know true peace and freedom in our cities and states, in our nation, and in the world until all men learn to live together as brothers.

The Brotherhood of Man is a fundamental truth of religion. We cannot be good Christians or good Jews if we deny to these, our brothers, the rights and privileges we enjoy.

Brotherhood is a basic tenet of democracy, set forth in the self-evident truths of the Declaration of Independence "... that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights ..."

Unless we believe in and practice Brotherhood—in the full meaning of the word—we are hypocrites in our faith and in our patriotism.

Brotherhood, to achieve the ultimate goals of peace and freedom, requires more than merely shaking hands with a fellow who happens to be of a race or religion other than our own. Brotherhood means that we shall treat all men as our brothers, insisting that their rights be protected and that they shall not be denied any privileges because of race or religion.

True Brotherhood demands that we protest vigorously when injustices are permitted and that we fight against all forces and influences that foster or encourage class, racial, or religious distinctions.

We cannot dodge the issue nor evade the responsibility.

Am I my brother's Keeper?

The answer is written in the laws of God and man.

Letter To Editor

To The Editor:

It is safe to say that the handicapped, like the poor, will always be with us. The world is rapidly getting at the cause of many diseases and finding the remedy for them. Drugs and serums are being created by the scores that bring relief from many of the old "so called" incurable maladies. Recently, it was reported that a drug has been produced that will remove, or maybe better say limit, the number of mental ailments.

But in the field of physical handicapped folks, the story is different. The causes of many of these handicaps are unknown and the list of injuries from accidents will still be large. Medicine and its many accomplishments will not play too great a part for some time. It will remain for other fields and sources to come to the relief of needs in this field.

It would seem that education and re-training will have to be the "great medicine" in bringing help and relief to the victims that come under the caption of physically handicapped. This situation will bring to focus the importance of schools for special instruction—and in this field there seems to be no end to variation. It will require special rooms and equipment. And with this physical responsibility will come the need for transportation and personal care.

There is one principle in education that cannot be avoided. Physical equipment, although it might be the very best, will not do the work alone. The personal element is still the important factor. This will bring to the front the greatest problem of special education, personnel. When this phase of the work presents itself, the variation of work and special training is legion.

So often it has been said that as the teacher, so is the school. There is no situation wherein that adage fits more aptly. However, no matter how well trained the teacher may be, unless he has a definite interest in HUMAN WELFARE AND SERVICE, the results will not be satisfactory. The work will proceed slowly, hence the teacher must have faith and patience. Normal children progress in rapid procession but the handicapped must take time. Lowell states a principle that will be an excellent motto to be placed in this teachers study: "Endurance is the crowning quality and patience all the passion of great hearts."

Survey Shows Students Prefer Reading Books Than Magazines

College students are notoriously short of time. By the time they have finished the reading assigned to them each day, there's little time left to do much reading for pleasure.

Still, a recent survey conducted by the Associated Collegiate Press National Poll of Student Opinion shows that, in general, more students prefer to read books than magazines in their spare time. Further analysis of the data indicate that coeds are substantially stronger in this feeling than are college men. In the survey, 68 per cent of the women interviewed and only 45 per cent of the men said they preferred books to magazines for leisure time reading.

But what about the type of books they read? Because of the great world-wide interest in Boris Pasternak's Doctor Zhivago, Associated Collegiate Press decided to find out how many of the nation's college students had read that book, or any other, written by Pasternak.

In late 1958, the following question was asked of a representative cross-section of American college students: "There has been quite a bit of discussion lately about the Russian author Boris Pasternak, who was awarded the Nobel Prize for literature but who finally refused it. Have you by chance read anything written by him?"

When the entire sample is analyzed together, results show that only 11 per cent of all the people interviewed had read anything by Pasternak. Doctor Zhivago is undoubtedly the one work contributing most to this total. Eighty-nine per cent of the total sample had never read any of Pasternak's work.

Analysis of the data for men and women individually, however, shows an interesting reversal of the trend in preferring book reading for leisure time activity. Of the men interviewed, 18 per cent said they had read something by Pasternak, while only 5 per cent of the coeds had done so.

NASM Confab Meets Thursday

Region five of the National Association of Schools of Music will hold an administrators workshop at Bowling Green, Thursday.

Pres. Ralph W. McDonald will welcome all delegates to the convention at a noon luncheon. Eugene Ormandy, conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra and on campus for the Artist Series concert that night, will be the guest of honor.

The agenda will be built around three panel discussions. The first of the panels will concern the problems involved in presenting sufficient courses in music literature on both high school and college levels.

Entrance requirements will be discussed in the second panel in an attempt to compile a uniform system of requirements for all schools. The topic "String Development," concerning the lack of interest in the string instrument, is the problem to be discussed in the third panel.

The Region five conference includes schools from Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana. Dr. James P. Kennedy, chairman of the music department, is president of this region.

Also attending the conference will be various non-member schools. A workshop has been arranged to inform these schools as to how they are deficient in their respective programs of music education.

The NASM was founded for the purpose of securing a better understanding between various schools of music, establishing a uniform method of granting credit, and setting the minimum standards for the granting of degrees and other credentials.

THE PEN IS MIGHTIER THAN THE SMOOCH

Back in my courting days (the raccoon coat was all the rage, everybody was singing Good Morning, Mister Zip Zip Zip, and young Bonaparte had just left Corsica), back, I say, in my courting days, the standard way to melt a girl's heart was to write poetry to her.

I don't understand why young men today have abandoned this gambit. There is nothing like poetry for moving a difficult girl. What's more, poems are ridiculously easy to write. The range of subjects is endless. You can write a poem about a girl's hair, her eyes, her lips, her walk, her talk, her clothes—anything at all. Indeed, one of my most effective love lyrics was called To Maud's Pencil Box. It went like this:

In your dear little leatherette pencil box
Are pencils of yellow and red,
And if you don't tell me you love me soon,
I'll hit you on top of the head.

Honesty compels me to admit that this poem fell short of success. Nothing daunted, I wrote another one. This time I pulled a switch; I threatened myself instead of Maud.

Oh, Maud, pray stop this drivle
And tell me you'll be mine,
For my sweetbreads they do shrivel
And wind around my spine.

My heart doth cease its beating,
My spleen uncoils and warps,
My liver stops secreting
Soon I needs be a corpse.

When this heart-rending ballad failed to win Maud, I could only conclude that she was cruel and heartless and I was better off without her. Accordingly I took back my Hi-Y pin, bade her adieu, and have not clapped eyes on her since. Last I heard, she was working in Galveston as a Plimsoll line.

But I did not mourn Maud long, for after Maud came Doris—Doris of the laughing eyes, Doris of the shimmering hair, Doris of the golden tibiae! Within moments of meeting her, I whipped up a torrent of trochaic tetrameter:

Oh, my sweet and dulcet Doris!
I love you like a Philip Morris
With its mild and rich tobacco
In its white and scarlet pack-o.
I'd swim from Louisville to Natchez
For Philip Morris and you and matches.

Well, of course, the dear girl couldn't resist a poem like that—what girl could?—and she instantly became my slave. For the rest of the semester she carried my books, washed my car, and cored my apples. There is no telling where it all would have ended if she hadn't been drafted.

So, men, you can see the power of poetry. Try it yourself. All you need is a rhyming dictionary, a quill pen, and a second-hand muse.

Let's drop rhyme and turn to reason. The reason Marlboro has gone to the head of the filter cigarette class is simple: better "makin's"—a flavor that pleases, a filter that works. Marlboro—from the makers of Philip Morris.

Ohio U. Upsets Visions Of MAC Crown

Falcon hopes of capturing the Mid-American Conference basketball championship all but vanished Saturday night as they went down to defeat, 89-67, at the hands of the Ohio University Bobcats.

Jimmy Darrow again led all comers in the scoring department, pumping in 10 field goals for 20 points. Only other Falcons in double figures were Rex Leach with 12, and Jim McDonald with 10. Darrow was held to only four points during the second half and didn't make the trip to the free-throw line once during the game.

It was Ohio U's zone defense and superior rebounding that spelled the difference in the contest. The Bobcats kept the Falcons out front, making them take chances on long shots, and keeping them from driving. At the same time, OU was out-positioning the Falcons under the boards, grabbing 56 rebounds to Bowling Green's 41.

At several times during the last 10 minutes of the game, the Falcons went cold, the most disastrous hit coming with eight and a half minutes remaining in the game. Trailing by only five, the Falcons soon found themselves facing a quick Bobcat offensive drive. When the smoke lifted, BG was down by 13, with about five and a half minutes left on the scoreboard clock.

Twice more during the few remaining minutes the Falcons hit a cold streak, and were able to score only nine points in the remaining time, compared to 16 by the Bobcats.

Falcon Coach Harold Anderson started substituting freely during the last remaining minutes, but it was too late. The fresh troops could not catch the fleeing Athenians and the Bobcats won, waltzing away, 89-67.

Toledoan Bunk Adams was one of five Bobcats scoring in double figures. Adams was held to only one point during the first half, but came back in the last 20 minutes to cop 14 points.

Starky Stalks

By BOB STARKWEATHER

"Well, the Falcons have done it again," is the cry around campus this week. "Done what," you ask. Most people are saying they've thrown their chances of another MAC—did I say another, they've never had one—crown out the window.

The above is the official word from the crowd in the nest, the ones who I'll just about bet my last dollar won't show up at the next four games, all home contests.

Student attendance at home games this season has been lousy—I'll take part of that back, there was a sell-out at the Miami game.

At other schools around the conference, the Falcons have played to near capacity crowds. What's the matter on this campus? Are there too many campus social events or something else keeping you too busy to walk through the monsoons and madly rushing waters to the Men's Gym?

Once in the Gym, if you can't find a car to go somewhere else, all except the "Gashouse Gang" as brother Don Wolfe calls them, and perhaps several other groups, sit on their hands and talk to their neighbors in undertones.

Let's show the guys that we haven't forgotten them entirely. There's still four more home games this season, and numerically we can still take 'em. Let's see some spirit at the games.

REPRESENTATIVES OF BOWLING GREEN and Toledo University smoked the peace pipe at halftime ceremonies during the BG-TU game recently. The pipe was instituted in 1948 when the games were resumed after a 12 year layoff. Bowling Green has held the trophy since the 1956-57 season and has won the last six games in the series. From left are Marilyn Wigger, BG cheerleader; a TU cheerleader; TU Student Senate representative; Bob Starkweather, NEWS sports editor; Lou Moonhead, vice president of BG student body; and, partially hidden, the sports editor of the Campus Collegian.

ate basketball player, present or past, who has earned a letter is eligible. The same holds true for BG varsity or frosh netters.

FRATERNITY BOWLING

With Tom Haverfield leading the way with a 184 average, Tau Kappa Epsilon continues to pace the fraternity bowling league. Four and a half games back of the TKEs are Alpha Tau Omega, followed by Delta Tau Delta, Phi Kappa Tau, and Kappa Sigma.

The TKEs also continued their dominance in league statistics, as they still hold the top team series, the top team game, the top individual game, and the top individual series. They amassed 2,720 pins in one night for the season's high, with Sigma Alpha Epsilon being their nearest competitor with a 2,538 series. SAE is runner-up in team game with a 941 game, compared to TKE's 947.

Phi Delts On Top In Frat Tourney

A tremendous second half shooting barrage by Phi Delta Theta enabled the chapter to gain an impressive 93-42 victory over the Phi's of Pennsylvania's Dickinson College's chapter in the semi-finals of the Phi Delta Theta Invitational Basketball Tournament.

A close first half ended with the local chapter ahead 34-23. Paced by the fine shooting of Don Hummel, Bob Colburn, Joe Ungvary, and Ed Owens, the local team strengthened the lead during the second frame. This quartet tallied 35 of the team's second half points. Hummel was high scorer of the game, with 19, followed by Colburn, with 14.

By virtue of the victory, the Phi Delts move into the finals of the tournament March 1, when they travel to Pittsburgh to take on the Pittsburg University chapter.

Wrestlers Shutout Canadian Champs

Western Ontario, Canadian national wrestling champions, met their match last Friday in the Men's Gym, when the Bowling Green wrestling team recorded their eighth straight victory, 32-0.

The match saw four Western Ontario men pinned. Jim Stag took 2:26 to pin his opponent Reg Reynolds, to give the Falcons a five to nothing lead. George Letner followed suit and pinned Emil Fedak in 1:27 of his match to increase the Falcon lead to 10-0.

Richard Jones decisioned Dennis Wade, 4-1, to give the Falcons a 13-0 lead. In the closest match of the day, Falcon Jim Hoppel decisioned Jim Joy, Canadian national champion in the 147 pound class, four to three.

Bob Dake continued the onslaught as he pinned Roy Wood in 5:14 of his match. After Dake's match, the score was 21-0, Bowling Green. Jim Comella then decisioned Don Williamson, 4-0, and Jerry Dianiska brought the crowd to its feet as he pinned Don Dalbiano in only 31 seconds of the match. Heavyweight Al Kebl closed out the match with a decision over Bob Thompson.

Miami Redskins Near MAC Title

Ohio University put another nail in the Bowling Green basketball coffin Saturday with their sound trouncing of the Falcon quintet.

The loss narrows the chance of a Bowling Green MAC championship considerably, but there is always a possibility. Bowling Green now stands five and three in the conference, running behind Miami's seven and one record. In order to tie for the title now, the Falcons must win their next four games and hope that Marshall, Kent State, Ohio University, or Toledo will get together to take two from the Redskins. Toledo, of course, is the only conference team to beat the Redskins this year in the MAC. Marshall is a possibility, having lost by only one point in an overtime contest at Miami earlier in the season.

Leo Byrd, Marshall's fine All-American candidate, has increased his scoring lead over Ed Blair of Western Michigan. Byrd is averaging 29.6 per game as compared to Blair's 24.9 total. Byrd has moved into second place in the nation in the individual scoring department, behind Oscar Robertson.

Jim Darrow is the only Falcon to hold down a spot in the top 10 MAC scorers, with a 23 point average. He ranks third in the conference in both all-games and league games.

Chuck McCampbell has scored on an even 50 per cent of his field goal attempts in league games thus far, but ranks only fourth in that department. John Papoun of Toledo leads the MAC with a fine 53 per cent mark. Dave Zellar of Miami and Jerry Wolf of Ohio U. are the others ahead of McCampbell.

Another Toledo player, Jerry Galicki, is leading the league in free throw percentage with 22 for 25 for 88 per cent. Sam Key of Western Michigan is a close second, with 87 per cent. Bowling Green's Darrow ranks a distant sixth, in spite of a commendable 80 per cent average.

One department in which the Falcons have been weak this season has been rebounding, and it shows up in the MAC statistics. The leaders are from Miami, Ed Wingard and Bill Brown. The top Bowling Green rebounder, Rex Leach, ranks last in the top 10.

Exchange Papers Stacked High-Education Courses: Wasted Time

By THELMA MADDEN

Final examinations, a time dreaded by all University students, is now a thing of the not-too-distant past and the far, far future. The long lines of registering students has dwindled and one can now catch a glimpse of the business office and the registrar's window. The first week and a half of classes are over; the Nest is packed again—the University is back to normal.

And so is the NEWS office—exchange papers containing all sorts of interesting items are again piled high.

The Union at the University of Minnesota has inaugurated a group of campus women known as Charm, Inc. As a member of Charm, the member indicates her interest in the world of fashion. The group holds bi-weekly coffee hours, which feature programs about hair-styling, careers with airlines, and opportunities in fashion copy-writing. Currently, a program is planned in cooperation with a downtown store to provide information about Early American furniture.

Another project of Charm is the sponsoring of monthly fashion shows, modeling classes, and a three-day Bridal Bureau for coeds planning to take that fatal step over the brink of matrimony. This might prove to be a very worthwhile "special feature" for the Bowling Green Union to investigate.

The students of Ohio University proved that turn-about is fair play. A Coed Prom was held recently where the gals ask for the dates, pick them up for the dance, make the corsages, and pay the bills for the evening.

An editorial in the Wooster VOICE, student newspaper from the College of Wooster, echoes the expressed opinions of many education majors. Titled "Mickey Mouse Courses," the article states that the credit hours which education "methods" courses are, to a large extent, a loss of valuable time, which could be spent gaining more information from the student's major field.

The writer states that all the material a student gains from 11 to 17 hours of education courses could easily be condensed into a concise three-hour semester course, and that the available courses do not aid the potential teacher in the areas most sorely needed: methods of presentation, ways to deal with disciplinary problems, or grading techniques. The exception was the student teaching program.

At the Associated Collegiate Press Conference held this past fall in Chicago, editors from colleges and universities which contained no department of journalism told of the problems they encountered with an untrained staff. We note that Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland has taken steps to alleviate this problem by sponsoring a series of lectures encompassing the various phases of applied journalism. Upon completion of this tryout period, a student may apply for a position on the Institute's publications.

Southern Illinois University in Carbondale has a problem similar to that of the managing editor of our own NEWS. It seems that the campus police have found three stray bicycles—perhaps some one has abandoned the managing editor's mode of transportation and it has been found by an unsuspecting passer-by??? (It's blue.)

The editor of the campus newspaper at Eastern Illinois University was fired by the school's publication board as a result of a student-faculty dispute over how far the student editor could go in criticizing the dean of men. The members of the publication board, consisting of students and faculty, then had to suspend publication of the paper when the rest of the staff resigned in protest to the firing of Editor Bruce Shaeffer.

Bowling Green's Commons must be keeping up with the "Joneses," for an estimated $400,000 damage was incurred at the University of Minnesota when an explosion caused firemen to battle flames and dense smoke in the University's Chemistry Bldg. The UM fire broke out at 8:15 a.m.

Many university students are said to be all wet, but they were all too wet at Heidelberg College, Tiffin, when flood waters encompassed portions of the campus during the recent "gift from Mother Nature" which has held much of Ohio paralyzed.

BG A Cappella Choir Completes Recent Southwestern Ohio Tour

At precisely noon on Feb. 1, 69 members of the Bowling Green A Cappella Choir accompanied by Director Cardon V. Burnham, boarded two buses that took them on a three day concert tour of southwestern Ohio.

First stop on the tour was the Grace Methodist Church in Dayton.

Two concerts were presented the following day at Dayton high schools. At Fairview High School the choir was met by Donald D. Longnecker, principal, and James Rodgers Jr., speech instructor. Rodgers is a recent graduate of Bowling Green and former business manager of the A Cappella Choir. Immediately after the concert the choir left for its second stop of the day, Kaiser High School. Following this concert the weary singers made their way back to their residences for a few hours of relaxation.

At 7 a.m. Tuesday the group left the Miami Hotel on the last leg of its tour. Arriving in Sidney around 8:30 a.m. they began vocal warm-up exercises immediately. The concert was held that morning at the high school.

From Sidney they journeyed to St. Mary's, the last stop on the tour. Preforming before an all high school audience, the choir was greeted with enthusiasm. Immediately after the concert the buses were loaded for the long ride home. Arriving back in Bowling Green in time for dinner, the triumphant but weary singers all agreed it was good to be back home.

Many of the choir members had various jobs and responsibilities on the tour. Mark Deerwester, president, met and introduced the sponsor at each stop, checked with the business manager every day on all details, checked the buildings for rehearsal rooms, and even reminded his fellow passengers when the buses were scheduled to leave.

Those who participated in the tour were: Marilyn Butler, Kathleen McKee, Ruth Johnson, Andrea Housholder, Ann Nichols, Janice Tovey, Susan Bushong, Jane Shaver, Marilyn Smith, Marjorie Simon, Pamela Pollman, Linda Butts, Celia Belleville.

Contest Entries Due Tomorrow

Entries in the "Best Dressed Girl" contest being sponsored by the B-G NEWS and GLAMOUR magazine must be turned in to Thelma Madden, B-G NEWS office, 315 Administration Bldg. by 4 p.m. tomorrow. Each sorority and women's dorm has been invited to submit the name of one woman judged best dressed in her housing unit.

Fraternity Residence Center Awaits Final Loan Approval

Korean Scholar Visits University's Campus During World Tour

One of Korea's foremost scholars and educators visited the University Jan. 26. He is Dr. Sun Keun Lee, president of Sung Kyun Kwan University, Seoul, and cabinet advisor on education to the President of the Republic of Korea.

Dr. Lee is visiting various universities in the United States, Europe, and the Mid-East, as a participant in the Foreign Leaders Program of the U. S. State Department's International Educational Exchange Service.

His interest in visiting the University campus was partly business, but he had a personal reason for making the trip too. Dr. Lee is a benefactor of Miss Seol Bong Anderson, a freshman in the College of Business Administration, and he wished to see the institution Miss Anderson is attending.

Miss Anderson, the adopted Korean daughter of Major and Mrs. Brooks D. Anderson, Port Clinton, took a break from final week activity to be with her benefactor and parents. They came to Bowling Green from the Anderson home, the Erie Ordnance Depot in Port Clinton, where Dr. Lee and his State Department escort-interpreter had stayed the night before.

Dr. Lee and his party were guests at a luncheon given in his honor by University administrators. He also toured the campus and visited University officials.

2 Foreign Students Enroll For Classes

Foreign students entering the University this semester are Beno Wymar, and Sayed Ahmad, Karachi, West Pakistan, stated James L. Galloway foreign student advisor.

An immigrant from Germany, Wymar served in the United States Army for two years in Okinawa. While attending BGSU, he plans to study economics in business. His social sponsors are Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Hamilton. Wymar lives in 32 Rodgers.

A graduate in education with emphasis on administration, Ahmad is here on a Fulbright Mundt Scholarship for one year. His plans are to teach in a university in Pakistan when he returns from the United States. At present, Dr. and Mrs. Edward J. Karlin are his social sponsors. His address is 312 Clough St.

Final approval of a loan request for $2,500,000 from the United States Housing and Home Finance Agency is expected by March 1, Pres. Ralph W. McDonald has announced. The Agency will then buy bonds issued for the construction of the men's residence center east of Fraternity Row.

President McDonald spent a week in Chicago last month conferring and working with FHHA officers in an effort to clear away many technical and legal matters so that the "earliest possible approval of our loan application" might be secured.

If the Agency approves the loan, then University bonds will be sold to it at 2 7/8 per cent interest. Some delay is caused by not selling the bonds in the open market, Dr. McDonald explained, but the amount of money that is saved makes the delay rather unimportant.

Many institutions pay 4 3/4 to 5 per cent on bonds sold in the open market.

"When the loan is approved, we are ready to go," the President added. Bids will be advertised immediately, as architects' plans are finished, and construction should begin by June. Occupancy of the residence center is scheduled for September, 1960.

The center will consist of eight individual fraternity houses, each housing 48 men, and an interfraternity dormitory, housing 316 men. The latter is to accommodate members of fraternities who are unable to live in their respective houses.

In addition to the amount received from the sale of the bonds, the University will pay approximately $100,000 toward the construction, as the center will cost nearly $2,600,000.

TV Course Successful; 5,000 Students Enroll

The National Broadcasting Company, in co-sponsorship with the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, has undertaken what might be considered one of the most noteworthy experiments in the history of television broadcasting, namely a nationally televised course in atomic physics. The series is entitled "The Continental Classroom."

Their purpose in sponsoring the program is to provide an opportunity for high school teachers throughout the nation to enhance their knowledge of atomic physics. In the words of AACTE president, Dr. Harvey M. Rice, "... this course will help improve the quality of physics teaching in high schools and thereby deepen and broaden the education of secondary school students." At the same time, it gives the layman and other interested individuals a chance to learn more of physics in general.

The Drs. C. D. Anderson, I. I. Rabi, and Felix Block, all Nobel Laureates in Physics, will be guest speakers in months to come. During this time, Dr. White will discuss and give demonstrations concerning all aspects of atomic physics, from the discovery of the electron through the experiments leading to the development of the high energy atomic accelerators, such as the cyclotron and the synchrotron.

On a whole, the course is taught in the same manner as other college science subjects, including daily reading and problem assignments in two textbooks. The only difference is that the lectures are given through the medium of television.

During the "Classroom's" first semester, some 5,000 students enrolled in nearly 200 colleges and universities, such as the University of California, the City College of New York, and Ohio State University, received graduate or undergraduate credit. Five Bowling Green students also were enrolled in the series. In addition to these, an estimated 2,000,000 persons view the program each day.

Locally, the course is viewed between 7:30 and 8 a.m. over Toledo's WSPD-TV. The course is between semesters at present, but will resume telecasts tomorrow morning. Students interested in enrolling in the course should contact Dr. Donald W. Bowman of the physics department.

The course, which has already completed one semester, is taught by Dr. Harvey E. White, on leave from the University of California where he is vice-chairman of the physics department, and by noted guest lecturers in the fields of chemistry and physics.
